SIGNMYPAD VERSION 2.0 APPROVED AND AVAILABLE IN THE GOOGLE MARKET

New York, June 3, 2010 – Autriv Inc., a software development firm has released an Android version of their popular iPad software, SignMyPad.

SignMyPad Android has all of the same wonderful features of its iPad equivalent. Easily import PDFs from your email or DropBox, and elements like text, the date and your signature. A saved PDF can be easily emailed or even synced back to your DropBox for easy document management.

Justin Esgar, CEO and Founder of Autriv, Inc. and an Apple Consultant who also founded Virtua Computers Inc., a consulting firm based in New York, started Autriv, Inc.

“I’m very happy to be bringing SignMyPad to the Android market, said Esgar. “We’ve seen a huge uptick in the amount of Android devices out there and know that it’s a real competitor for Apple’s iPad. It’s an opportunity we just couldn’t miss.”

The software can be found in the Google Market or Amazon App store and also on the company website www.autriv.com. Sign My Pad costs $3.99 for a one-time download of the software. To report any issues with the software, you can reach the support team at info@autriv.com.
